

Jerry Naqvi, PEng, CEO

Jerry arrived in Canada in 1964 with an engineering scholarship. In 1973, he became Vice President, Development at Allarco Developments Ltd. under the tutelage of Dr. Charles Allard before venturing out on his own in 1980, when he founded what has now become Cameron Development Corporation.

Jerry remains considerably involved in his community via various committees and boards, and is a volunteer and executive member of a number of groups. Among them the University of Alberta Board, the Glenrose Hospital Foundation, the Interfaith Dialogue Committee, the Society for Development in Third World Countries, CNIB, and Catholic Social Services. His professional associations include the International Council of Shopping Centres (ICSC), the Industrial Developers Association of Canada, the Appraisal Institute of Canada, UDI, and the Alberta Real Estate Association.
